Matthew Shruhan

Associate Manager, Policy Advocacy

Matt serves as USIBC's Associate Manager for Energy Policy Advocacy. In this role he works with the U.S. and Indian governments to reduce barriers to trade and investment in the nuclear, hydrocarbon, and renewable energy sectors.

Prior to joining USIBC in 2011, Matt served in the Bureau of South and Central Asian Affairs at the U.S. Department of State, where he covered regional organizations and regional political affairs. He earned the Department's Meritorious Honor Award for shaping and advancing U.S. engagement with China in Central Asia and for defining ways to expand U.S. cooperation in the Indian Ocean region.

Matt has traveled to India to research its Maoist insurgency and presented his findings at the Midwest Political Science Association National Conference in Chicago. He has also worked as a volunteer in Nairobi, Kenya and as an English instructor in Hangzhou, China.

In 2011 Matt earned a B.A. in international affairs and Asian studies, summa cum laude, from the Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University.
